

Kentucky

Louisville-based Thorntons plays a major role in bp's growing convenience and fuels business.

Fueling the Bluegrass State and beyond

From daily commutes to long-haul journeys, bp is helping keep Americans moving – fueling up with the energy they need and the food and convenience they rely on along the way.

Headquartered in Louisville, bp-owned Thorntons operates more than 200 convenience retail stores that provide fresh foods, high-quality beverages and fuel in six states across the Midwest and the South, including over 40 sites in Kentucky.

TravelCenters of America, which joined bp's family of fuel brands in 2023, has more than 350 locations across the country, including five sites in Kentucky – supporting professional drivers with places to refuel, recharge and rest.

Renewable natural gas

Archaea Energy operates two renewable natural gas (RNG) plants in Kentucky. Located in Jeffersonville and Ashland, these two plants combined can process 7,200 cubic feet of landfill gas per minute into RNG. In August 2026, we launched a process to market Archaea for potential sale.

Economic impact – in numbers

$76 million+
spent with vendors
*Vendor spend is for 2025.

1,100+
bp employees

Updated November 2026