Board of directors

Role

The role of the board of directors of the company is to promote the long-term sustainable success of the company, generating value for its shareholders whilst having regard to its other stakeholders, the impact of its operations on the communities within which it operates and the environment. The company's success is dependent upon effective and entrepreneurial leadership by the board, establishing its purpose, strategy and values and doing so within a framework of prudent and effective controls which enable risks to be assessed and managed.

Membership

The board of directors (the board) will comprise a mix of individuals with an appropriate balance of skills, knowledge, views, diversity, independence and experience.

Tenure of individual directors will be based on contribution, continued evidence of the exercise of independent judgement and alignment of the skills and capabilities of the directors with the strategic direction of the company.

Over half of the directors, excluding the chair, will comprise non-executive directors who are determined by the board to be independent in character and judgement and free from any business or other relationship or circumstance which could materially interfere with the exercise of their judgement.

The board should be of a size which enables the full engagement of all the directors. The number of directors will not exceed the limit provided for by the company's articles of association.

Meetings

At least six times a year.

Agenda

The agenda will be set by the chair in consultation with the chief executive officer (CEO) and with the support of the company secretary. The chair will engage with the directors in order to determine the key items for the board's consideration for the coming financial year.

Company secretary

The company secretary reports to the chair and is responsible to the board. Directors will have access to the advice and services of the company secretary.

The company secretary is responsible for advising the board and its committees on all corporate governance matters, including (a) board procedures, (b) applicable laws and regulations for the conduct of the affairs of the board and (c) all other matters associated with the maintenance of the board or otherwise required for its efficient operation.

Independent advice

Each director should obtain independent legal advice where the director is required to consider any matter in which he or she may have any interest which may conflict with the interests of bp.

Where independent advice is to be sought, the director will first discuss it with the chair or senior independent director as appropriate. The company secretary will facilitate the obtaining of such advice.

Conflict with Articles

These terms of reference should be read alongside the articles of association and to the extent there is any conflict the articles shall take precedence.

Responsibilities

The board is responsible for the matters set out below. Other responsibilities, including the review and oversight of particular risks, have been delegated to board committees and are set out in the relevant board committee's terms of reference.

1. Establish bp's purpose, strategy and values.
