BP responds to Commerce Commission’s final Retail Fuel Market Study report

BP New Zealand acknowledges the Commerce Commission’s final Retail Fuel Market Study released this morning.

BP New Zealand’s Managing Director, Debi Boffa, says: “We look forward to assessing the Commission’s recommendations in full, and continuing to work with Government and officials to progress next steps in the interests of consumers and the market.

“We’ve appreciated the extent to which the Commission has engaged with us to understand BP’s broad offer, and the complexities of the retail fuel market and our global supply chain.”

BP will focus on reviewing and assessing the detail of the final report before providing any further comment.
